Feminist Disciple Expresses Views

In Pacific Grove last week Miss Anne Martin of Carmel, who, at the last election, was a candidate for United States Senator in Nevada, a woman wise in politics and a leader in the feminist movement, spoke to a large assemblage under the auspices of the League of Women Voters.

Discussing the need of women in gov-ernment, Miss Martin said that women have the vote, the tool for expressing interests of women in all legislative groups; that women should select and finance the proper women in every comfinance the proper women in every community to represent women's interests in all legislative bodies; that women might better proceed to make laws rather than beg and pray for the men to make the laws they want; that there should be fifty-fifty in Congress.

The tro leading women's organizations, the National League of Women Voters and the National Woman's Party continue to work for equality Party, continue to work for equality laws by practically the same methods they used as unenfranchised women by they used as unenfranchised women by women begging men to put these laws among to the sex appeal and the inferiority complex in the minds of many), and if after years of effort these laws are placed on the statute books the greatest inequality of all will remain: Women will still be outside the real game of politics, and government, life itself, will still be controlled by men who can administer the new laws practically as they please. Equality laws by themselves will not and cannot equalize, but the process of securing half the seats in State Legissecuring half the seats in State Legislature and Congress, of winning half share in government will go a long way toward developing a feeling of equality in the minds and hearts of women.

It was declared that English and German women are more able politically and farther advanced than American women. There are today thirty-seven women members in the German Reichstag, three in the English Parliament, while only one will be in the next

Heaven and Hell Pictured at Lobos

Among the prominent sojourners in this city last week were numbered Mr. and Mrs. Roger Noble Burnham of Berkeley.

Burnham's claim to fame is as a sculptor. Mrs. Burnham has an established reputation as a dramatic coach

Both are graduates of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts and have had professional experience, besides be-ing connected with the Toy Theater in Boston, Professor Baker's 47 Workshop, and other little theater groups. For five years Mrs. Burnham managed her own company of amateurs—the Lanai Players—in Honolulu.

Mr. Burnham's most recent work is a portrait bust (including the hands, one holding a plum, the other a Shasta daisy) of Luther Burbank, the California plant wizard. Burnham considers Burbank one of the first of a new line of artists who create in terms of nature rather than imitations in paint and

Our distinguished visitors spent Sunday at Point Lobos and were much impressed with the dramatic character of the place. On the right the white peaks towering out of the blue and green sea, and the so-called Cedars of Labannon suggested a bit of heaven, while on the left the dark, dank, cavernous crags, on which were built the sets for Monte Carlo in "Foolish Wives," pictured the drearyness and desolation of hell.

Arts and Crafts Little Theater Local Artist Has to Have Gala Opening

ARMEL'S new Little Theater of the Arts and Crafts Club will have its official housewarming the last of this month. The building will be completed in a few days and turned over by contractor Michael Murphy completed in a few days and turned over by contractor Michael Murphy to the play committee of the Arts and Crafts Club. This play committee, consisting of Mrs. Marie Gordon, Perry Newberry and Dr. Alfred E. Burton, at a meeting last Sunday night, unanimously decided to extend the honor of opening the new playhouse to John Northern Hilliard, whose many successful productions both in the Forest Theater and the old Arts and Crafts playhouse have been a factor in keeping Carmel in the forefront of the amateur dramatic field. His most notable productions have been "The Yellow Jacket," "Pygmalian and Galatea," "E in Wonderland" and "Kismet' at the Forest Theater; and "The Dragon's Claws," "The Shepherd's Bridge" and Dunsany's "A Night at an Inn" at the Arts and Crafts Little Theater. The outstanding success of "Kismet' last summer is still fresh in the minds of Carmelites, and the Pine Cone believes that it is voicing the sentiment of the community in saying that the choice of the Arts and Crafts play committee for producer of the opening program of the new theater will meet with general approval. opening program of the new theater will meet with general approval.

Play Committe Gives Producer Free Hand

The play committee has attached no strings to the invitation extended to Mr. Hilliard. He has been granted a free hand in the selection of the play or plays to make up the opening program. It is the intention of the play committee to make the opening of the new playhouss a four-night event. Mr. Hilliard will officially open the theater on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, November 28 and 29. On Friday evenings, November 30 and Saturday evening. December 1. Perry Newberry will produce a full length comedy, "Doubling in Brass," by California author. "Doubling in Brass," by California author. "Doubling in Brass," was produced last season by the San Francisco Thes. I with great success, and the play will be produced on the professional stage in New York during the present season. Thus the opening of the new Arts and Crafts will be a the present season. Thus the opening of the new Arts and Crafts will be a double-barreled event, so to speak, and will bring back into the fold two veteran producers of Carmel. It will not be the first time that Perry Newberry and John Hilliard have worked in double harness.

Rehearsals Will Soon be Under Way

Mr. Hilliard has accepted the invitation of the play committee, and will begin rehearsals as soon as he has definitely selected his program for the opening night. While this is not an official announcement, it is likely that his program will be made up of two plays. One of these will probably he Lord Dunsany's powerful one-act play, "The Queen's Enemies." The editor of the Pine Cone makes this guess with a good deal of confidence, for he knows that it has long been one of Mr. Hilliard's fondest dreams to produce "The Queen's Enemies"— a dream that would long since have been realized had the stage of the old Arts and Crafts Theater been adequate to the staging of this play. Should he decide to produce "The Queen's Enemies," Mr. Hilliard will be handling familiar material, for it was his production last season of a kindred drama, Dunsany's "A Night at an Inn," that is generally regarded as having made dramatic history in Carmel.

Original Chinese Play Will be Feature

The other play on the opening day will undoubtedly be an original Chinese comedy entitled, "The Thrice Promised Bride." The manuscript of this play was submitted last year to the Forest Theater's annual prize competition. While the play, unlike "The Yellow Jacket," was not suited to outdoor production, it was thought so highly of by the play committee that through the efforts of Mrs. Susan Porter the rights were secured for its production in the Arts and Crafts little. There were recommittee that the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault is at the play committee was not at fault in the p Little Theater. That the judgment of the play committee was not at fault is attested by the fact that the play is printed in full in the current issue of the "Theater Arts Magazine." Its author is a Chinese student associated with the North Carolina folk players. Mr. Hilliard's notable success in producing "The Yellow Jacket" at Forest Theater makes him the logical choice to produce this naive Chinese comedy. Mr. Hilliard has long been a student of Chinese drama, and if "The Thrice Promised Bride" is a part of his opening program it will be produced in the Chinese manner, with all the naive conventions and appurtenances of the Celestial stage.

Exhibit in East

The Wichita Art Association has as its opening event for the year an exhibition of the work of William P. Silva of this city. Through Mrs. Richard M. Gray, an art enthusiast who saw Mr.

Gray, an art enthusiast who saw art.
Silva's work in Paris, came the invitation to exhibit in the Kansas city.
Among Silva's best canvasses are
"The Garden of Dreams," "A Gray
Day," "The Foggy Sea," and "Cypresses Bent by the Wind," all of which are of scenes in and near Carmel. Then there are his numerous landscapes, the locale of which are in South Carolina, Florida,

An article appearing in the Paris Revue Moderne is a fine tribute to Mr. Silva's abilities. It says, in part:

His canvasses breathe an incomparable enchantment, a subtle charm which is very tender and very alluring, of astonishing intensity, which Mr. Silva understands how to depict with a sincerity, frankness and vigor that stirs one's soul. One feels in him the love of that marvelous coun-day, and one divines his wish to make us love it as he loves it. There are in these pictures touches like caresses, tints as harmonious as a poem, and one stands before his evocation so accurate, so real, so alive, to dream of the soul of this far-away land, and of the soul also of this artist so delicately sensitive.

Henceforth one may consider him as one of the masters of contemporaneous art of the United States as well as one of the most representative artists of a school little known in France, but to which we owe many chef-d'oeuvres and from which we may expect

So will Gertrude Atherton's Black Oxen last, because it is the first novel dealing with gland operations.

110 DISASTERS IN YEAR ENLIST RED CROSS AID

Nearly $400,000 Spent in United States - Greek Refugee Work Completed.

For its preparedness to render re-Hef through effective and generous aid to the sufferers from disaster the American Red Cross is universally regarded as the one organization from which response to appeal for help is immediate. In the last year, according to the annual report of the Red Cross, its disaster relief operations were carried out in 110 localities in the United States. This work, with activities carried over from the previous year, required the expenditure in the United States of $397,468.04 by the American Red Cross, its Chapters and Branches. In the emergency following the defeat of the Greek forces in Turkey and the burning of the city of Smyrns, which entailed the relief of nearly 900,000 men, women and children, Red Cross National Head-quarters expended $2,605,696.09. The tood distriction an oresce aggre 25,000 tons; garments, 509,000; blan-kets, 48,550; new shoes, 5,000 pairs; medical, hospital and sanitary supplies, 804 tons. The disasters in the United States during the past year reported 240 persons killed, 991 injured, 12,691 ren-dered homeless. The total property loss was estimated at $20,710,000.

Relief of suffering caused by disasters of such magnitude as to overwhelm the resources of the communi-ties in which they occur is fundamental to the charter of the American Red Cross. In addition to making appropriations from its treasury and assigning trained personnel to relief work, the Red Cross in disaster centralines and makes more effective relief funds and supplies contributed by the country at large.

Since 1881 the Red Cross has administered more than $20,000,000 for the single purpose of disaster relief. That it may continue to accept the responsibilities which grave emergencies place upon the American Red Cross appeal is made for a nationwide renewal of membership during the annual roll call, which opens on Armistice Day, November 11, and closes on Thanksgiving Day, Novem-

Annual Announcement, Season 1923-24

THE GIFT-GIVING PROBLEM is with us once again. Whether the Christmas purse is heavy or light the use of cards extending kindly greetings gains favor with the passing years. The affluent supplement their numerous gifts of price with these timely printed words of cheer. The less fortunate find them a satisfactory substitute for the more expensive gifts. The expression of seasonable sentiment is always looked for with pleasurable anticipation, and the question of cost should not affect the measure of acceptability in giving or receiving.

THIS SEASON'S SHOWING of seasonable greeting cards is distinctive in both quality and design, with a wide range of sizes and colors. Many designs have appropriate words of cheer already printed or engraved, awaiting only the name of the sender to speed them on their way. Many others are blank, ready for the expression of an original thought. All are splendid value at the prices quoted and a satisfactory job of printing is always guaranteed. Envelopes to match. Part of a rare art collection owned by him." Joseph Pennell, American etcher, and his wife, Elizabeth Robins Pennell, au-thor, was irreparably damaged by water in the basement of a London warehouse where it had been stored since 1917, when the Pennells gave up their resi-dence at Adelphi Terrace, London, on account of the war, and returned to the United States. When Mrs. Pennell went over to secure the goods, she found 30 out of 56 cases ruined by damp. The loss is estimated at several hundred thousand dollars and can never be re-

The lost works included drawings, etchings, zinc and copper plates by Pennell; all the oil paintings he ever made; all the prints of his famous Panama Canal series and the original drawings for various Henry James, Irving and Howells books; rare editions and presentation copies of Stevenson, Kipling and others; drawings by Aubrey Beard-sley and various pre-Raphaelites; Mrs. Pennell's unique sollection of books on cookery. He does not defend his actions and sarely resorts to criticizing the actions of others. His book is a record of events, the facts of which are marshaled in orderly array; it is history written like a superb piece of "precis" writing; no verbosity, no propaganda, no distortion, just the truth and facts. It is just the sort of book that unromantic, academic Mr. Asquith might have been expected to write.

ALMANAC WEATHER FORECASTS NOT DEPENDABLE

The publishing of weather forecasts by days for an entire calendar year as practiced by many almanacs is undoubtedly based on the willingness of many people to accept without question anything that appears in print, says the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture. Actually such forecasts are not based on sound principles and therefore are without any value whatsoever.

Accurate prediction of the weather and temperature for a season in advance can not be made for places in general because there are no known laws on which to base them. An exception to this statement is found in the case of forecasting the strength of the monsoon winds of India, on which the summer rains of that country are dependent. These forecasts, while not claiming to be infallible, give in general terms an indication as to whether the rainfall will be above, below, or approximately normal for the summer months. They are, therefore valuable.

The farmer who attempts to carry on his business with only almanac forecasts to guide him must necessarily lose rather than gain by following them. Similarly, forecasts of weather and temperature for a long time in advance published in the newspaper should be disregarded in planning farming operations. When daily weather maps of the world can be made, the first step at arriving at the principles of seasonal

LAUGHTER AND LIFE

Those shell-rimmed, but glassless, spectacles that Harold Lloyd OPPORT result of a study of the psychology of laughter.

Laughter and life are two of the commonest, simplest things. In its purest form, laughter is life. The more life, the more laughter. And in the weaknesses of human nature is to be found the most humor.

In life it is a laughing matter to see a dignified person lose his dignity, such as a frozen-faced individual slipping on a banana peel. It is a laughing matter to see an efficient person make a mistake-for instance, a deft waiter spilling soup on an irate guest.

Because at one time shell-rimmed glasses were always synonymous with learned people, such as professors or scientists, they acquired a dignity that even their present popularity cannot dispel.

Worn by Harold Lloyd, as his only make-up, they make of him a serious-minded youth, and accordingly magnify the humor to be found in any situation that impairs his dignity.
